RCMP starts probe after body found

DEATH RCMP officers in Fort Saskatchewan have begun an investigation after a man's body was found in a ditch along Range Road 230 on Friday.

Police have not yet identified the body, which is being looked at by the provincial medical examiner's office in Edmonton.

Although the cause of death is not known, investigators are treating the death as suspicious. RCMP are asking any who may have seen any suspicious activity near Range Road 230 and Township Road 552 to call 780-992-6100 or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS.

Victim's dad homeward bound

STAFFORD Father's Day means something different to Rodney Stafford than to most dads.

For the father of eight-year-old Victoria Stafford, the southwestern Ontario girl killed last year, the day gives him renewed purpose to make the world safer for his son and all children.

Day 12-year-old son Daryn spent the day at the top of a mountain in Jasper, a place Victoria visited and fell in love with the summer before she died.

Two people — Terri-Lynne McClintic and Michael Rafferty — were charged with first-degree murder in her death.

Homes destroyed in fatal explosion, cause unknown

ANDREAS MORSE
and GRAHAM MCCANN

A massive explosion rocked a north Edmonton neighbourhood yesterday afternoon, destroying a number of homes, according to witnesses.

It was an otherwise quiet Sunday afternoon in the north side community around 179 Avenue and 91 Street when at about 1 p.m. Barry Guyon felt his house shake.

"We thought it was a plane crash because of all the cop cars," he said. "It shook our house. It's pretty tragic."

Guyon and his wife jumped in their car to see what was happening and were floored when they saw the destruction.

"The back of the house was completely gone," he said. "And about 14 others were badly damaged."

When Josh Legault saw all the emergency vehicles racing down 91 Street toward the explosion, he grabbed his camera and went to see what was happening.

"There were a lot of people, some smoke, and one of the houses was still burning," said the 21-year-old. "There were small explosions and debris on the streets."

Legault said he arrived on scene about 20 minutes after the explosion and when he got there police were already evacuating the area.

"There was damage to the houses beside and across the street," he said. "The windows were blown out from the explosion and there was wood in people's roofs. It looked pretty intense."

Fire rescue services said at least three people were dead as of press time, 70 were displaced and several suffered injuries in the blast.

"So far a total count of 15 houses were damaged from windows out, to flying debris," district fire Chief Robert D'Aoust said.

"No word about whether this is linked to criminal activity."

A deadly explosion destroyed homes in a north Edmonton neighbourhood yesterday.

Fleury's memoirs to hit the stage

A play on the turbulent life of former NHL star Theo Fleury is in the works in Calgary. Alberta Theatre Projects is in the early stages of developing Don't Quit Before the Miracle. The play was written by Kristie McLellan Day, who worked with Fleury on his autobiography Playing With Fire. Edmonton director Ron Jenkins is working with McLellan Day to help bring the production to the stage.

'I'm living my dream by doing this'

With festivals, tour and album on the horizon, singer Yanofsky is keeping busy

andreas.morse@metronews.ca

Nikki Yanofsky doesn't have time to sit down for an interview.

Instead, the 16-year-old singing sensation from Hampstead, Que., answers questions on her cellphone while walking down the street in New York City.

Yanofsky — who really got discovered during the Olympics when she sang I Believe in front of billions of viewers — was in the Big Apple over the weekend performing with the likes of Paul Simon, Taylor Swift, and John Mayer, just to name a few.

"It was so much fun. I got to meet so many of my heroes," Yanofsky said. "It was a completely star-studded event and I was wondering, 'Why am I here?'"

The next night Yanofsky performed with Chris Botti at Carnegie Hall, so you could say things are going quite well for the teenager.

"I'm extremely busy but I love it. I find that when I don't have much to do I get really bored," she said. "I'm living my dream by doing this. I couldn't ask for much more."

Yanofsky is busy, but not busy enough to pass up on Canada's jazz festival circuit.

She'll be performing in Edmonton on June 29 and she said she can't wait to get back on the festival scene.

"I love the jazz festivals because performing live is just such a huge part of who I am, it's just such a great feeling," she said. "I can't wait."

When she's done the circuit, Yanofsky jets off to Europe for a tour, all while working on her second album.

She's busy with her singing career, and says that's why she appreciates the jazz festivals so much. "They really help to keep me grounded," she said. "This is why I am able to do what I do — it all started with the jazz festivals."

The Edmonton International Jazz Festival runs from June 24 to July 4.

"It was actually the wife's idea," he said. "I've been planning this since it was announced and it's been excellent. The biggest MMA event to hit the city for sure."

Treasure left his four kids, including two newborn twins, at home, but the MMA fan said given a little time and education, he could see bringing his age, for me around 12 or 13, I'll be bringing them to an event for sure," he said. "I think martial arts in general is very good for kids. You can tone down the physical aspect of it and focus on the teaching."

Jared McComb wouldn't have missed this fight either.

McComb is an up-and-coming pugilist who will be making his MMA debut in Edmonton for Aggression MMA on July 9 and used last night's WEC event to pump himself up.

"Going to the local shows is really great, and I'm going to debut at the local level, but this is a great thing to aspire to," McComb said.

"Just to see how guys really work at this level, and understanding the kind of crowds and atmosphere that comes with it. It's amazing."

'It's all about the family'

Men across Edmonton celebrate Father's Day with loved ones

SunnySide

STEFAN STRANGMAN
for Metro Edmonton

Father's Day is a day that is often stereotyped with fathers receiving ties, walking around the house all day in pajamas and taking a break from the responsibilities of parenthood.

But how did fathers in Edmonton choose to spend their special day?

Edmonton boasted plenty of Father's Day activities yesterday.

Many chose to take advantage of the balmy 26 C weather and head out to Edmonton's parks with their families; some went to the Safeway Father's Day run in Laurier park; and others took advantage of the Muttart Conservatory's "Jazz It Up" event, where dads could enjoy some light jazz on a patio and kids could make crafts for their Fathers.

Ken Mulyk and his family, out for Father's Day fun, pose in front of the carousel at Galaxy Land in West Edmonton Mall.

Other dads chose to stay out of the heat and spend some time indoors with their families at places like West Edmonton Mall's Galaxy Land.

Among them was Ken Mulyk, who has been a dad for 32 years and has three grandchildren.

"It's all about the family," said Mulyk.

GAME There's no crying in baseball.

And not a tear was shed at Kinsmen field yesterday during the Gay Cup.

For the fifth year in a row, as part of Pride Week festivities, the Rainbow slow-pitch squad took to the diamond, this time against the Edmonton Police Service's national team.

"It's not just another baseball game this time," said Jim Dexter, co-ordinator of the event. "These guys travel all over the country to play, so this is serious."

Dexter said every year the ball game gets bigger and it's a great way to cap off an amazing week of celebrations.

"It's been the best Pride Week ever," he said. "And now we're ending it off with a baseball tournament and we're not losing too bad, so it's great."

At last check the Rainbows were down by three, but who's keeping count anyway?

"Anybody is welcome to come out and play," Dexter said. "Any skill level, just come out and have a good time."

Pride Week in Edmonton began June 10 and wrapped up yesterday.

G8 nations fall short on aid pledges

G8 Summit

FUNDS The world's richest countries have come up short on their commitments to assist the developing world, says a new report that counts Canada among the more reliable G8 members.

The report released yesterday says the OECD and Group of Eight countries are $10 billion behind the five-year, $50-billion increase they promised at their 2005 summit in Scotland. The document prepared by the Foreign Affairs Department prior to this week's Ontario summits says some G8 members — like Canada — are meeting or surpassing their goals, but it says others are not.

There has been significant progress in some areas, it finds, but it says there are still problems in key areas like disease prevention, water and sanitation, and maternal and child mortality.

Minister of International Co-operation Bev Oda, left, answers questions from the media yesterday as Minister of Foreign Affairs Lawrence Cannon listens following the release of the G8 Accountability Report in Ottawa.

"Universal access targets with respect to HIV/AIDS will not be met by 2010 and many developing countries ... remain off-track to achieve the health-related (goals)," it says. "The (goals) on child mortality and maternal health are proving the toughest area in which to make progress."

Prime Minister Stephen Harper has made maternal and child health a signature element of this year's G8 in Huntsville.

But while sources say Canada has put $1 billion on the table, other cash-strapped governments appear less willing to ante-up. THE CANADIAN PRESS

42% The report claims sanitation aid is not reaching the most affected countries, with only 42 per cent of aid commitments in sanitation and water in the past three years reaching the least developed countries.

Arctic town adapts to melting permafrost

CLIMATE An Arctic community that has seen its fire hall sink and roads buckle in the melting permafrost is now shifting future building projects away from town.

The effect of vanishing permafrost — soil normally frozen year round — is now being felt across Canada's North, and the Quebec village of Salluit is just one of many Arctic towns trying to adapt to an increasingly warmer climate.

Rising temperatures are being blamed for natural disturbances in the North, such as the rapidly eroding coastline of Tuktoyaktuk, N.W.T., and unprecedented floods that knocked out two bridges in Pangnirtung, Nunavut.

Salluit even considered relocating the whole town. One of Quebec's northernmost communities, Salluit saw its local fire station sink a year after it opened.

Following two years of scientific studies, experts have concluded the village can stay put. Most homes sit on stilts that will have to be adjusted annually to reduce warping. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Summit OK with most: Poll

POLL A fake lake, faux Muskoka backdrops and a $1-billion price tag are troubling but not enough to turn off a majority of Canadians to the benefits of summitry, a new poll suggests.

Three-quarters of respondents to The Canadian Press Harris-Decima poll said this week's G8 and G20 summits in Ontario are important and worth the expense of their country hosting.

Some 76 per cent said the summits were either very or somewhat important and 20 per cent were opposed. Most poll respondents didn't expect a lot of progress to be made.

Of those polled who heard something about the cost of hosting the summits, 61 per cent said they were "too expensive to be worth it," while 32 per cent said the price tag is justified, said pollster Doug Anderson.

The June 10-13 telephone survey of 1,000 Canadians has a margin of error of 3.1 percentage points. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Snoops poke into tax files

Canada Revenue Agency forced to reveal breaches

Dozens of workers at Canada's tax agency have been caught snooping on their ex-spouses, mothers-in-law, creditors and others by reading confidential tax files.

Internal reports at the Canada Revenue Agency show that rogue employees are improperly reviewing the private financial affairs of taxpayers without their knowledge.

And some are using agency computers to give favoured treatment to colleagues, friends, family — and themselves.

Documents outlining the forbidden invasions into private tax data were obtained under the Access to Information Act.

In one case, a worker was found to have inspected his spouse's tax information 69 times without permission.

In another case, "(an employee) accessed her own tax information and the tax information (of) 13 relatives.... She provided preferential treatment to colleagues, relatives and acquaintances."

Agency gumshoes then stumbled on a secret cell of snoopers in the same location. "The investigation also determined that 13 other employees of the same office made unauthorized accesses to taxpayer information."

The documents show that ex-spouses are sometimes targeted, for reasons not made clear in the heavily-censored material from September and October last year. Some workers who were caught claimed they were simply helping relatives file their income-tax forms.

Agency records for 2008-09 show there were 29 cases in which workers were caught without authorization, about the annual average for the past five years. A spokesperson for the agency said the number of breaches is relatively small, given there are more than 40,000 employees.

Noel Carisse said taxpayers are not always informed when workers improperly access files because the breach may be judged too minor. But taxpayers whose information is improperly disclosed to third parties are almost always alerted. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Battle left its mark on Canada

BELGIUM A spectacular re-enactment of the battle of Waterloo was staged on the same historic grounds in Belgium yesterday, although the actual conflict took place on June 18, 1815, also a Sunday.

The decisive battle happened in Europe, but it left a permanent mark on this country.

A number of communities in Canada can trace their names back to that day 195 years ago, when Napoleon was finally defeated.

In Ontario, a regional municipality, a city and a university all go by the name Waterloo.

The victorious Arthur Wellesley, Duke of Wellington, is remembered through the names of such Ontario communities as Arthur and Wellesley. An Ontario county and a village are called Wellington. Numerous municipalities throughout Canada have streets names reflecting some aspect of the battle.

Several other Waterloo veterans are commemorated geographically in Canada; for instance, Waterloo veteran Charles Lennox, Duke of Richmond. There is a Richmond and a Richmond Hill in Ontario as well as a Richmond in Prince Edward Island and Quebec. A couple places are known as Lennoxville.

The Duke of Richmond's son-in-law, Major-General Sir Peregrine Maitland, commanded the 1st Infantry Brigade at Waterloo. He was appointed lieutenant-governor of Upper Canada in 1818, then lieutenant-governor of Nova Scotia in 1828, serving in that capacity until 1834. Communities in Ontario and Nova Scotia are named after him. THE CANADIAN PRESS

James Gaetz, an employee of a dog grooming business, carries a pet to a waiting owner during flooding on Saturday in Medicine Hat, Alta.

The wet, wet West

People in soggy low-lying areas of Medicine Hat started pumping out basements and taking stock of flood damage yesterday, but officials warned a downpour overnight could leave them waterlogged all over again.

Police Chief Andy McGrogan said about 40-50 millimetres of rain would likely fall by morning, following the same pattern that caused the flooding in the first place and pushing already swollen creeks back up to the same high levels.

"We're anticipating more of the same type of problems," he said, adding that the voluntary evacuations of 600 homes would remain until after the deluge.

Les Hamerston sat bone-tired on his front steps yesterday afternoon dreading what was yet to come.

He had been pumping water from his basement since being woken up by police at 4 a.m. Saturday, but said the moisture was still seeping in.

His basement was "a sopping mess (with) a little bit of mud floating around on top," and he hadn't even been able to get in to see if anything could be salvaged.

He said he and his wife weren't well enough to keep up the fight, adding his whole body ached from lugging heavy hoses around all day.

"There's nothing we can do. We just have to wait and see what's going on," he said. "There's no way they'll be able to contain it, so it's just going to go where it goes."

Police said while none of the evacuations were mandatory, 44 families came to the city for emergency shelter. They said those in the part of the city most devastated were all out overnight.

Jack Clark said his next-door neighbour's house in the area of the city known as the Flats was severely damaged while she was out of town.

He rushed over to carry out what he could, hauling books and papers upstairs, but was unable to lift a television and exercise equipment before the water rose to the ceiling. "It was running in the side door," he said. "It sounded like Niagara Falls ... Unreal."

The neighbour returned home Sunday morning to find the floor of her bedroom covered in muck and everything else underwater.

"She just started crying. What could she say?"

Up to 150 millimetres of rain has fallen in several regions on the Prairies, turning fields into lakes and ruining houses.

The Trans-Canada Highway east of Medicine Hat was closed across the Saskatchewan boundary for the weekend after being completely inundated, and looked unlikely to open in the short-term.

Crews were hoping to begin temporary repairs within the next couple of days on a washed out section of the highway west of Maple Creek, Sask., said Doug Wakabayashi of the Saskatchewan Highways Ministry.

Leslie's long been considered a candidate for the top job of chief of defence staff.

He will hand over command of the army to Lt.-Gen. Peter Devlin at a ceremony in Ottawa.

His new job will be to help shepherd the entire Canadian Forces towards its post-Afghanistan future at a time when the Conservative government is wrestling with an expected $49-billion deficit.

question often asked around Ottawa these days is: The Canadian Forces is being transformed, but into what?

Short parade, long history for sovereignty

MONTREAL Independence rallies in Quebec are more restrained than in the heady days following the death of the Meech Lake accord.

One in Montreal yesterday was more organized and more conventional than the raucous affairs held in the province 20 years ago. And with far fewer participants.

Just some 400 turned out in for the noisy march — and a few thousand for a series of events across Quebec — to mark the dual anniversaries of the death of Meech and the 1995 referendum on sovereignty.

It's a far cry from 160,000 who poured into the streets for the 1990 fête nationale parade. And in June 1990, a thousand sovereignists — buoyed by the recent death of the Meech — led an impromptu rally through Montreal's east-end and right into

Canadian helps crack alleged Ponzi scheme

Vedant Rajput is widely credited with helping to untangle India's largest-known Ponzi scheme.

Over the past decade, 53-year-old Sayed Mohamed Masood tricked more than 200,000 victims out of $250 million US, police allege.

In India, the wheels of justice are not known for rhythmic efficiency. Police routinely refuse to register criminal complaints and even when a case is opened, it's anyone's guess how long it could take to wind its way through the courts.

Predictably, when City Limouzine's cheques began bouncing last August, many were resigned that their savings were gone.

Mississauga's Rajput, on the other hand, became a one-man army.

— becoming a celebrity thanks to local TV and newspaper coverage — and created and distributed complaint forms for investors to submit to police. He unwound City Limouzine's corporate structure, explaining its cash flow to police.

Rajput has tracked down real estate that could be used to help repay claims to investors, and has hunted down three of the company's senior directors, including Masood himself.

vested in City Limouzine. "He's been doing the work of the police and various government agencies, and he's been doing it all on his own."

One challenge for police has been tracking down investors' money and so far, they have located 34 properties owned by Masood or his immediate family. Of those, 10 were found thanks to Rajput's sleuthing.

Thousands say they don't trust Kyrgyz troops to protect them

Thousands of ethnic Uzbeks massed on the border between Kyrgyzstan and Uzbekistan refused to return home yesterday, saying they feared for their lives after violent pogroms and didn't trust Kyrgyz troops to protect them.

Associated Press reporters saw some 50 Kyrgyz troops, many in armoured transport carriers, enter the border village of Surattash and try to reassure refugees it was safe to return home.

Yet the soldiers' presence terrified the families — ethnic Uzbeks who fled after attacks and arson by ethnic Kyrgyz — since they blame Kyrgyz troops for abetting the violence that left hundreds of Uzbeks dead and hundreds of

Adding some life to LRT stations

InTransit

Bryan Saunders

metronews.ca/saunders

Early last year, I asked a couple city councillors if anything was ever going to be done with the boarded-up retail spaces located in the Bay, Corona, and Central LRT stations. There are almost a dozen retail spaces in these stations that have sat vacant for more than 30 years.

Apparently, I wasn't the only one curious about the possibility of opening up shop in an LRT station.

Coun. Don Iveson told me that around the same time, for example, the people in charge of the Downtown Farmers' Market asked whether the concourse of Bay Station could be used as a sheltered location for the market during the winter.

Unfortunately, the logistics of an underground farmers' market didn't quite work out but the possibility of opening up the LRT station retail spaces looks to finally be in the cards.

This spring, spurred on by higher LRT ridership and curious folks like myself, the city sent out a request for information in order to gauge business interest for underground retail spaces. Several interested parties came forward and, as a result, the city will be issuing a request for proposals at the end of the month.

"A tender will go out to the public in various media, and interested individuals will have an opportunity to put their proposals together," said

Troy Shewchuk, a strategic planning officer with ETS.

"What we're hoping for is that, by the end of July, we will have a concrete list of vendors who want to open a business down there ... that we will then select from based on a predetermined list of criteria."

If all the retail spaces aren't filled, the city may consider the idea of using the spaces for ETS or municipal government offices.

"We haven't had any departments ask about it yet, but that's something that we're open to looking at as well," Shewchuk said. "Right now, however, it looks like there is external business interest."

Coffee and sandwich shops, shoe repair shops, and newspaper stands are just some of the ideas that have been floated around so far, but Shewchuk added the city is open to a wide variety of ideas.

Done right, finally opening up these retail spaces can only be a good thing: Putting a little more money in city coffers every month and infusing these stations with welcome bits of life.

Bryan Saunders is a local transit advocate and a strong supporter of initiatives to decrease dependence on private vehicles.

Worth mentioning

World Cup kindles quirky allegiances

In India, World Cup fever has fuelled a rivalry between rickshaw drivers.

Revenge-minded Serbians are backing the Americans — in hopes of a chance to beat them in Round 2. In Haiti, pro-Brazil passion helps chase away the post-earthquake blues.

No other sporting event stirs up such a surge of emotion around the globe as the World Cup. It's not a simple matter of supporting one's home-country team — all sorts of subplots arise, and some of the most zealous fans can be found in countries with no team of their own in the field.

India, for example, has never played a World Cup match. Yet international soccer has a huge following in the planet's second-most populous country, and by some measures — including prominence on cable TV — the tournament overshadowed this weekend's Asia Cup cricket match with rival Pakistan.

In India's southern state of Kerala, fans have been staying up late to watch World Cup telecasts, and two motorized rickshaw drivers have painted their vehicles in the colours of their favourite teams, Brazil and Argentina, to attract like-minded customers.

"I think Brazil has more supporters than Argentina, at least in Kerala," said a gleeful Mohammed Ali, whose rickshaw is now yellow with green highlights. He's threatened to set his vehicle on fire if the Brazilians fail to win their sixth title.

Brazil and Argentina also are the teams of choice in neighbouring, impoverished Bangladesh, with flags of the two South American nations flying from rooftops and treetops. When a power outage interrupted a telecast of the Argentina-Nigeria match in the capital city of Dhaka, angry fans by the hundreds smashed vehicles.

One of Dhaka's top universities closed indefinitely yesterday after students clashed over whether to cancel classes to watch the World Cup. Fervent fans demanded an early summer vacation so they could watch more matches. At least five injuries were reported when they clashed with other students who wanted classes to continue.

In Haiti, Argentina is an afterthought. Brazilians who visit the earthquake-ravaged country say Haitians may be more passionate about the Seleccion than the South Americans themselves.

Electric cars getting a jump start

Manufacturers addressing consumer's two biggest concerns — sticker price, battery range

for Metro Canada

The electric car is not dead after all. Several big auto manufacturers are racing ahead with low- or zero-emission technology, and a new generation of electric vehicles should be widely available in Canada as early as 2012.

This much-desired concept is being improved by the day, and concerns once seen as all-but-insurmountable are melting away.

BATTERY RANGE

What's the concern?

Many drivers want to drive cleaner vehicles, but are worried electric cars simply cannot travel far enough to meet their needs.

What's changing?

The Nissan Leaf — an all-electric, zero-emission vehicle set for release in late 2011 — will have a single-charge range of 160 km.

"We feel that the best way to control CO2 emissions is by producing none at all," says Mark McDade, director of marketing at Nissan, Canada Inc. "The average commuting driver in Canada has an average round trip of 30-40 km. With a range of 160, those drivers' needs are completely satisfied."

Toyota, manufacturer of the successful Prius hybrid vehicle, is focusing on several options, all of which are good on range.

Battery life and sticker price have been two of the major stumbling blocks for electric cars.

"Right now, we've announced a global demonstration program for our plug-in Toyota Prius hybrid," says Rodney Jones, Manager of Advanced Technology and Powertrain at Toyota Canada. "That vehicle will be available for consumers in 2012, as well as the battery electric vehicle that we are working on."

STICKER PRICE

What's the concern?

Because this is new and innovative technology, potential buyers think electric cars will be prohibitively expensive.

What's changing?

"Quite honestly, the sticker price is not the issue," says Nissan's McDade. "It's the operating cost. You're not using fuel. The maintenance on this vehicle is diminished greatly, because there's not many fluids to deal with. The battery is a self-contained unit, so there's not a lot of open-heart surgery going on here."

The Leaf's Canadian price has not yet been determined, but the car sells for $32,700 in the United States. McDade notes that both Ontario and Quebec have already announced up to $10,000 in incentives for drivers who want to purchase electric cars.

"The more that people buy them, the more the price goes down," Jones adds. "We've sold more than 2.5 million hybrid vehicles worldwide. A lot of that technology will go into our plug-in and battery-electric hybrid vehicles. Our focus right now is to be able to sell it at a price where people will adopt them on a mass scale."

Did you know?

The City of Edmonton's official website features a long list of fuel-saving tips. Among the suggestions for cutting GHG emissions from Northern Alberta drivers:

- Reduce unnecessary braking and speeding.

- Use cruise control on flat stretches of highway.
- Avoid excessive idling.
- Don't rev your engine.
- Drive and accelerate smoothly.

Start your day the right way

Be sun savvy

Smart summer beauties sport sun protection

Whether you're heading to the cottage, planning a bike trip or staying home and exploring your city, you'll likely be spending more time in the sun come summer.

This means planning ahead and arming yourself with proper protection from the sun's harmful ultraviolet rays. Here are a few tips: Pack or stock up on sunscreen. An average adult needs about 2 tablespoons to cover the body. Since a 300 ml bottle has about 8-10 applications, every adult will need one bottle for a 10-day trip, says dermatologist Dr. Gordon Searles, of Edmonton.

Don't forget sunglasses and hats — preferably ones that cover the back of the neck. Check out other sun protective gear, too. "These hats, bathing suits and other summer clothes are quite fashionable and widely available," says Dr. Searles. If that's not feasible, pack tightly woven clothes.

Remember to pack moisturizer to keep your skin hydrated while out in the sun — even better if it has an SPF rating.

Even if you're snorkeling, you'll need water-proof protection. "The sun's rays can penetrate up to 6 feet of water," warns Dr. Searles.

Put sunscreen on 20-30 minutes before heading to the beach, boat, pool or trail. Apply it to your arms, legs, chest and face. Remember your feet, ears, hands and lips. "People often forget about their scalp," says Dr. Searles. "If you get wet, your hair separates and your part gets wider and that's an area that doesn't typically see a lot of sun, so you can get quite an unpleasant sunburn." Reapply the sunscreen every 1-2 hours.

Live real and face the world beautifully every day

RELAX Living authentically — that is, not worrying about what others think of you — could make a difference to your beauty and glow, says Dr. Sarah Freke, a family physician who practises as a psychoanalyst in Toronto. "Worrying can make you tense, and that will affect your posture and your facial muscles." Relax, get some gentle exercise and be good to yourself, and it will show.

Slow starts to the day get Dr. Freke's approval. "It's tremendously useful to have quiet time first thing in the morning," she says. Gentle activities such as yoga, a quiet walk and slow stretching are good, but so is lying in bed and thinking through how your day will shape up. That lying and thinking, says Dr. Freke, is healthy "brain-working time." Giving yourself time to think can take the stressful edge off of a busy life — and relax a harried expression.

Daytime cool

Despite what you've seen on Jersey Shore, summer does not start at the tanning salon. Instead, use gradual self-tanner and build natural looking colour (not Snoo-ki orange) over a period of days. And remember, faux tans offer no sun protection, so always apply sunscreen before heading outdoors.

Carminy, the L.A.-based celebrity make-up artist featured on the TV series 'What Not to Wear' and author of the new beauty-tip bible, Crazy Busy Beautiful (Harper Studio, $15), modifies her 'basic day face' with a few simple humidity-busting tricks. For the oily-skinned, she recommends mattifying gel underneath a light layer of foundation dusted with powder. Powder instead of cream blush stays put in the heat and she likes to "keep eyes simple with waterproof eyeliner in indigo or jade green on the upper lash line" finishing with a coat of waterproof mascara.

Expert beauty tips!

Finally, swap your lipstick for a bold yet sheer orange or pink gloss that flatters bronzed and pale complexions alike.

Of course, if you feel naked without lipstick, try this spare, dramatic look favoured by Toronto-based makeup artist Grace Lee: a strong orange-red or fuchsia matte lip paired with nothing but mascara'd (waterproof, or course) eyes. "Just fill your entire lip with matching pencil, then apply lipstick, blot and it will last all day," says Lee.

Nighttime glow

A couple of key additions can turn a day look into night. "Waterproof dark liner in the inner rim of your eye takes literally seconds but makes a huge impact in creating definition and drama," says Lee.

Shimmer bronzer adds instant smudge-proof sparkle. Even the pale can get their shimmer on with rose-gold tones over the more traditional caramel to toffee shades.

"Apply along the sides of your face and right underneath the cheekbones," says Carminy.

Next, apply a lighter shade of shimmer powder to shoulders and décolletage, finish up with a slick of golden shimmer gloss (layered over lipstick or alone) and hit the patio, humidity be damned.

5 steps to spectacular summer skin

Summer beauty is easy to achieve – all it takes is a few simple steps.

1 Cleanse

Increased exposure to sun, water and air conditioning all work toward dehydrating your skin, says aesthetician Giovanna Manchisi, senior manager of spa services at Toronto's Elmwood Spa. She suggests choosing a hydrating cleanser that removes all the skin impurities and leaves no residue.

2 Exfoliate

Manchisi suggests exfoliating twice a week after using cleanser because sun, sand and sunscreen contribute to dead skin cell build-up.

The caveat, says Dr Frances Jang, dermatologist and owner of Vancouver's Skinworks, is to make sure the exfoliant is matched to your skin.

Light fair skin, for example, might be too delicate for a granular scrub, but oily skin with clogged pores is fine for it.

Mechanical exfoliants — grains and loofahs — should be used with care with certain skins, since abrasions can leave the skin open to hyper-pigmentation (dark spots) from sun.

3 Tone

Toners are often an overlooked part of the system. But, says Manchisi, they are actually a key component in calming skin and closing pores. The ones that contain witch hazel are good for the skin. Steer clear of any that contain alcohol, she says, because it can strip the skin of its natural oil.

4 Moisturize

Always finish with a moisturizer that is lighter than your rich winter cream. Without moisturizer, the skin produces sebum, which creates a greasy layer that can clog pores. And when summer heat dehydrates the skin, you lose the natural glow too.

5 Antioxidants

Exfoliant products that contain antioxidants, such as vitamins A, C, E, or AHA (alpha-hydroxy), lactic acid and retin-A, may help protect against sun damage and aging. As Dr. Jang explains, "UV damage creates free radicals on skin and they in turn create the sun damage. You can neutralize these free radicals with antioxidants such as vitamins E and C."

Vitamin A in the form of retin-A may help build up new collagen. Speak to a skin expert for more information — this product may irritate sensitive skin.

ALEX NEWMAN

Water works

HYDRATE When Patricia Chuey's son was five years old, he caught a frog — and then forgot about it. The poor thing shriveled up and died, but it provided an opportunity for the B.C.-based consulting dietician to have a chat with her boy about the need for hydration. The frog was an apt illustration of why our skin, like every part of our body, requires water.

You may prefer to think of grapes and raisins, but the fact remains, we all need water, especially in the coming hot months. How much?

The general rule, Chuey says, is one millilitre of water per calorie consumed... if you eat a typical 2,000 calories per day, that would add up to about two litres or eight glasses of water a day.

It doesn't have to be water — milk, fruit juice, even tea and coffee will do (as long as they aren't super strong). Watery fruits, veggies and soup also contribute.

During exercise, she recommends drinking about a quarter cup of water every 15 to 20 minutes.

By the time you feel thirsty it's too late, says Chuey. You are already in the early stages of dehydration.

Simple strategies that really work

Want a warm weather coif that looks great? Here are tips for simple styles, frizz-fighters and UV screens.

"The number one trend for summer is natural hair, letting hair dry naturally in sculpted styles," says Alain Larivée, stylist and co-owner of CAJH Maitres Coiffeurs in Montreal.

Start with a shampoo and conditioner for your hair type, says Larivée. Apply a curl-enhancing cream or anti-frizz serum immediately after the shower (skip the towel-turban step — it causes frizz). "Work the product through from the top to the ends, and work hair into shape while it's wet," he advises.

To keep hair back from the face, Larivée suggests braids and loose chignons as hot hot-weather styles. Try working the casual side braid, which hit big after Alexander Wang's Spring/Summer 2010 show; twist it into a little side bun if you want to get it off your neck. Get easy how-to tips and videos via Google.

If you're not in a braided mood, a simple clean ponytail is a classic keep-cool do, especially for naturally straight hair. Greg May, owner of Greg May Hair Architects in Toronto, likes the sophistication of a low ponytail fastened at the nape of the neck. Go for a high ponytail for a younger look; follow the line of your jaw for optimal placement.

For added frizz control,

Humidex high? Here's how to fight back

TIPS "Humidity causes increased sweat and oil, causing follicles and pores to clog," says Laura Kingston, an esthetics instructor at Concepts School of Cosmetology in Halifax. Common areas affected are the face, neck, back, chest and feet. Shower every day, but "avoid harsh, drying products like soap and astringent," says Kingston. Here are her recommendations for treating the following humidity-induced skin issues at home (for persistent problems, consult a doctor, dermatologist or pharmacist).

Acne

This can flare up on humid days. To prevent breakouts, use a facial cleanser that doesn't make skin feel dry, tight or sore; exfoliate with a product containing alpha hydroxyl acid (AHA) or one that's acid-based; use a gentle toner such as witch hazel; and apply a light moisturizer. Put on sunscreen last, but before makeup.

Fungal infections

Apply an antifungal foot cream to athlete's foot and put tea tree oil on affected toenails, which will be thick and yellow.

Bacterial infections

These can present as colourless patches of skin on the chest, shoulders and back. Use a dandruff shampoo as a body wash, says Kingston, or dab it straight onto dry skin.

Heat rashes

They can appear anywhere, from around the nose and mouth to the groin and underarms. To relieve redness and itchiness, apply pure aloe vera gel, witch hazel or a paste of oatmeal and water.

Help your hairdo

According to Debbie LeFort, a master hair-styling instructor at Concepts, humidity makes straight hair limp and curly hair frizzy. "Regardless of hair type, if you want to hold your style, don't touch your hair after you've sprayed it," says LeFort.

Straight hair

Use a volumizing shampoo and conditioner, work in mousse from the end of the hair shaft to the root.

Dry, style and finish with a spray that says "anti-humidity" or "anti-humectant" on the bottle.

Curly hair

Use a moisture-balanced shampoo, then follow the same steps for straight hair. (On really humid days, you might have to give in and embrace the volume.)

Good morning sunshine

Five sure-fire ways to start the day with a beauty boost.

1 Keep your blinds and your windows partly open at night

Waking up with natural light is a naturally cheery way to wake up. Natural light may also tell your biological clock that it's time to rise, by increasing your adrenaline levels. Over time, you may be able to rely on your biological clock instead of the shrill ringing of your alarm — and guess which wake-up call is more calming?

2 Start your day calm

Marilyn Freeman, a retired teacher in Kingston, Ont., admits to being a type-A person. "I want to jump out of bed and start running around accomplishing things," says Freeman, an avid cyclist, hiker, paddler and volunteer. Instead she gets up and does yoga in a quiet room in her house. Sometimes she listens to a tape, other times she opens her windows and listens to birdsongs. As well as providing stretch and strength benefits, yoga calms Freeman. "In a world that sometimes appears to be spiralling out of control, yoga gives me a sense of personal control."

3 Cuddle with your kids

Waking up to a grouchy kid can start the whole family off on a downer day. Instead of a screechy wake-up call, try waking your kids gently and affectionately. If your children are young, wake them with hugs and kisses. If they're older, try an affectionate head massage and firm but gentle wake-up words. Kid-time is precious, and morning hugs can ensure a heartwarming hello to everyone's day.

4 Get up on the right side of the bed

This isn't a spatial directive, but a psychological one — at least for Cheryl Embrett, a Toronto writer and mother. "Before I get out of bed I think about five things I'm going to be grateful for that day." Her thoughts can be as simple as being thankful for having good coffee to brew. Embrett says, "My negativity was sucking energy. Now I've noticed a difference and my husband finds me much more positive."

5 Walk in fresh air

Slip into comfy clothes first thing in the morning and head outdoors for a 20 to 30 minute walk. A walk can lower your stress level and blood pressure (and it also helps you manage your weight and reduce your risk of type 2 diabetes).

Walking in the fresh morning air — even in the rain — can boost your mood and your outlook.

Tips for summer nails

Manicures and pedicures are an important part of your beauty regime, especially during the summer. Here's how to keep your hands and feet looking their warm-weather best!

Polish up

A common do-it-yourself manicure instruction is to apply polish in just three strokes, one down the middle of the nail and one on each side. But if you watch a pro, the moves are a little different. Rita Remark of Toronto's Tips Nail Bar and Spa offers this advice:

- As you withdraw the brush from the bottle, drag one side against the lip to keep polish to one side of the bristles. "Don't be afraid to have plenty of product, as it glides easier and prevents streaking."

- Set the brush — polish down on the nail one-quarter of the way down from the cuticle. Slowly push it up, and before the polish actually touches the cuticle, sweep down to the tip. Without re-dipping, distribute polish evenly with another stroke or two. "Especially when applying light shades, fewer strokes are better. The more you brush, the more you streak."

Chip tips

Whether you've done your own polish or had a professional job, "after a couple of days, freshen up the top coat, making sure to glide right to the ends," says Remark. "This will restore shine and give polish a fighting chance against chipping."

If you do get a little chip, file the nail length down lightly to minimize or eliminate the chipped bit, then apply another layer of top coat.

Another type of salon manicure and pedicure, involving "soak-off" gel, is rapidly gaining popularity; results can last two weeks or longer without chipping. Designed for natural nails, formulas such as OPI Axxium Gel and CND Shellac (a gel-polish hybrid) deliver a thinner, more flexible finish than traditional gel. Each layer is UV-cured — so there's zero drying time. Removal requires a salon appointment to soak nails in acetone and gently flake the gel off.

Daily TLC

Maria Cristina Faccio, owner of Ritual Tanning Salon & Nail Bar in downtown Toronto, recommends keeping cuticles soft by applying cuticle oil every night before bed.

Also, SPF on hands is a must "to prevent age spots and aged skin," she says. (Wipe nails immediately post application; sunscreen can mar the shiny polish finish.)

And don't forget your poor feet, constantly exposed in warm weather. "Slather them in moisturizer and sleep in breathable cotton socks," Faccio says.

Scents and sensibility — what's yours?

Flowers are more than just pretty faces. Their scent evokes powerful emotions, moods and memories — and that's made perfume a perennial part of most beauty wardrobes.

Rose and lavender remain timeless favourites, but this season's most popular fragrances feature more exotic blooms. Notes of freesia, grapefruit, mandarin, orchid and rose with pear are present in the perfect-for-summer scents, says Tammy Smitham, of Shoppers Drug Mart and its upmarket cousin, Murale.

Each flower has a fragrance profile. Freesia is intensely sweet and comforting. Rose offers a warm, deep sweetness considered an aphrodisiac, but often has a bracing hit of cloves or other spicy scents. Lavender is pungent, herbaceous and soothing. Orange blossom is fruity, delicate and honey-sweet yet refreshing. And various orchids serve up scents that stretch from coconut to cedar.

Summer-fresh fragrances from natural sources are usually more expensive than synthetics, especially if they are harvested from rare blooms or faraway places. The classic brands usually contain real-flower ingredients. Ask an expert

Trendwatch
Bare it!

With summer upon us, it's time to bare more than just our faces on the beach! Besides the usual methods (razors, creams, waxing and laser), here's a look at three hot trends in hair removal.

Hair Removal Pads: These pads are like extra-fine sandpaper and gently buff hair (and dead skin) off your body.

Body Sugaring: Similar to waxing, this method has the added benefit of exfoliation. Available in spas and salons, there are also recipes on the Internet for home.

Epilation: Shaver-shaped devices tweeze hair – a patch at a time. Web chat indicates it gets less painful with each use.

Be sure to talk to a beauty advisor about whether these methods might work well for you.

In the swim

Since the days of the Roman bath, deciding what to wear by the water has always been a challenge — do we go for comfort or style? Thanks to new materials, and fantastic designers, making the choice is no longer such a big deal.

Material girl

According to Janet Morrison of Omni Swim Aquatics in Toronto, the best material is polyester because it resists fading and stretching in harsh pool chemicals. Lycra, on the other hand, tends to stretch so much that after three months of constant use, "you'll be able to tie a knot in it," she says.

The material also makes a difference also when getting fitted: "A Lycra suit needs to be really tight because it will stretch, whereas polyester should just be comfortable, because it won't stretch," Morrison says.

Patterns

The looks for 2010 are "solid, vibrant colours or graphic patterns, plus some textured and specialty fabrics," says Reyhan Sofraci, creative director and owner of Montreal's Aqua Di Lara Swimwear, a line of haute fashion bathing suits.

Design

And they're a little more daring in their design. Bandeau and tarzan bottoms are a huge hit, says Sofraci, "with the cut-away suit, or monokini, being a particularly flattering style. Strategic fabric placement keeps certain areas hidden and yet has great sex appeal."

Though Sofraci loves "innovative fabrics," function is important: "The suits must brave water, sun and chlorine and stay as beautiful as when first purchased."

Match body shape to suit

Enhancing the beauty of the feminine form is as simple as following tried and true fashion design rules: "Lines elongate. Big prints emphasize, small prints minimize. Light colours enhance, dark colours reduce," says Sofraci.

There's a swimsuit for every figure.

While ruffles, ruching and trim add to curves, sleek lines and darker colours add length and are slimming.

Fashion watch

From crowded trains and buses to air-conditioned cars and offices and everything in between, dressing for summer heat can be a challenge! Here are 10 ways to keep cool... and look great.

Wear breathable cotton and linen in lighter colours; steer clear of clingy jersey and synthetics. If you've got an active day, high-tech fabrics will wick moisture away from your skin.

Loosen up. "Something about the heat makes people feel they need to wear too little, and too tight," bemoans David Clemmer, wardrobe consultant for the popular makeover series Style By Jury.

It's okay to move up your hemline a bit if the look's right for you and your work environment. If it's corporate, forget the mini. Your best bet, says Toronto-based image consultant Kelly Millar, is at or just above the knee.

Go for balance: if you wear a flirty skirt, balance it with a jacket or cardigan; pair a tank top with a longer flowing skirt or capris with billowy tops.

Dress in layers. Loosely roll a lightweight, neutral-coloured jacket or cardigan and stash it in your knapsack or purse for the commute; hang it over the back of your chair so the creases fall out. If your office provides a place to hang clothes, keep a crisp white shirt as a back-up.

Ditch the pantyhose if your workplace allows it — but forget flip-flops. "They should only be allowed where sand is present," Clemmer says. Avoid flaming toenail colours "so people aren't noticing your nails or feet before they notice you."

Pull hair up off the neck in a chignon or ponytail. (Or, for those with longer hair, try a shorter cut this summer!)

Ice cubes or a damp wash cloth on the neck or wrists help cool you down. Install a small desk fan.

Keep anti-perspirant (it reduces wetness) or deodorant (it lets you sweat but keeps you smelling sweet) in your desk or purse. Underarm shields, which are thin adhesive pads that absorb sweat, are another option.

Take a cool bath or lukewarm shower before you head out for the evening again.

Some foods, like celery and rutabaga, contain phyto coumarin. "When ingested, these foods are absorbed through the body and show up in the skin. When exposed to the sun, the chemical is converted to an oxygen radical and that can lead to a sunburn-like reaction". DR. GORDON SEARLES

Foods to boost your beauty

When it comes to skin care, what you put on your plate may be more important than what you put on your skin, says Toronto dietitian Fran Berkoff.

"Everything we eat affects our body inside and out," says Berkoff, "so the healthier the foods you eat, the better your skin will look. There's no need to take supplements."

The best way to nourish your skin is to follow Canada's Food Guide, she says. Getting the recommended 7-10 servings of fruits and veggies a day is super easy with farmer's markets everywhere these days. Choose fruit for breakfast, dessert and snacks, make a salad for lunch and steam up different-coloured veggies with dinner.

Eat your fruit and veggies. Vitamin C produces collagen and may help reduce the damage (and wrinkles) caused by over-exposure to the sun. Broccoli, tomatoes, red peppers, dark greens, strawberries and local muskmelon (cantaloupe) are all rich in this essential vitamin and powerful antioxidant.

Eat your fruit & veggies!

Take the E train. Vitamin E, another important antioxidant, may also help protect skin from sun damage and keep it looking great. Get your fix by making a big salad spritzed with good olive oil and sprinkled with nuts and seeds. For snacks, enjoy a handful of almonds.

Make a splash. Our bodies, and our skin, love Vitamin A, and one of the best places to get it is from dairy products. Think berry-banana smoothies with low-fat milk for breakfast, yo-gourt with fresh fruit and a mid-afternoon cup of frozen yogurt. Since we also convert beta carotene to Vitamin A, serve a low-fat yogurt dip with bright orange carrot, sweet potato or rutabaga sticks.

"More studies are needed to figure out the long-term benefits of food on our skin," says Berkoff, "but we know for sure that eating a variety of healthy foods and drinking plenty of water to keep your skin hydrated will go a long way to helping you look and feel terrific this summer."

Fitness watch — beach ready workout

Well toned muscles look fabulous in summer bikinis and tank tops... and toning muscles is easier to do than you think, says Krista Popowych, manager of the Richmond Olympic Oval in Richmond, B.C. She recommends five muscle conditioning moves to help tone the muscles that are most often bared in summer!

Health Canada recommends that healthy Canadians aim for at least 60 minutes of physical activity every day. That includes aerobic exercise such as cycling and fast walking and muscle conditioning.

Remember that losing a bit of weight — and fat — might be important too, in revealing muscle tone. The best way to lose extra fat is to combine aerobic exercise with healthy eating.

1 Wide leg squat with calf raise

(Targets: legs)

Stand with feet wide and toes turned outward. Bend knees as you lower your torso straight down. Lift heels and balance on toes for 3 seconds. Drop heels and lift torso back to starting position. Be sure to keep all movements slow and controlled in this exercise and others. Repeat 10-12 times.

Advanced: Repeat 10-12 more times.

2 Wide leg push-up

(Targets: arms, shoulders, chest and core)

Start in a push-up position with legs wider than hip width and arms in line with shoulders, elbows slightly bent and pointing back (not to the sides). Bend elbows slowly as you lower your upper body to the ground. Pause, then push yourself up to the starting position. Repeat 10-12 times.

Advanced: In the upper position, reach out one arm. Hold for 5 seconds. Lower. Change sides.

Strawberry cantaloupe smoothie

- 1 cup (250 mL) chopped Ontario muskmelon or cantaloupe
- ½ cup (125 mL) chopped strawberries
- 1/3 cup frozen cranberry juice concentrate
- 1 ½ cups (375 mL) cold milk
- 1 cup (250 mL) ice

In a blender, puree melon, strawberries and concentrate together until smooth. Add milk and ice; blend again. Enjoy immediately.

Mango smoothie

- 1 large ripe mango, peeled and chopped
- ½ tsp (2 ½ mL) grated fresh ginger
- 1/3 cup (75 mL) frozen orange juice concentrate
- 1 ½ cups (375 mL) cold milk
- 1 cup (250 mL) ice

In a blender, puree mango, ginger and concentrate together until smooth. Add milk and ice; blend again. Pour into tall glasses and enjoy.

SERVES 2

3 Reverse lunge into knee lift

(Targets: glutes, quads, hamstrings, calves)

Stand with feet hip width apart and arms by your sides. Bend the left knee as you step the right leg back into a lunge position. In a slow, sweeping motion, and as you straighten the left knee, lift the right leg forward and bend the knee up to waist height. Reach the right leg back again into a lunge position. Repeat 10-12 times. Change legs.

Advanced: As you bring the knee up, do a bicep curl with your arms. As you lower the leg, lower your arms again too.

4 Side plank

(Targets: shoulders, core, abdominals)

Lie on your left side with elbow bent and body lifted off the floor with legs extended and stacked or the top foot acting as a brace on the ground in front of the right foot. Be sure neck is in line with the spine. Extend right arm up towards the ceiling. Hold for up to 15-50 seconds.

Advanced: Sweep your right arm around and under your body to touch the ground underneath.

5 Bicycle

(Targets: Abs)

Lie on your back with head, neck and shoulders raised, elbows wide, hands lightly touching either side of your head. Reach your opposite elbow to opposite knee as you start to cycle. Repeat 30-50 seconds. Take a break and repeat.

Advanced: Change the tempo — slower is more challenging.

The iPad application is similar but also contains the complete missal — containing all that is said and sung during Mass throughout the liturgical year. Upgrades are expected to feature audio as well as commentaries and suggestions for homilies as well as musical accompaniment, he said.

Red Sox send Manny home without a win

MLB Clay Buchholz and two relievers combined on a four-hit shutout to help the Boston Red Sox beat the Dodgers 2-0 last night and send Manny Ramirez back to Los Angeles without a win.

Buchholz (10-4) allowed three hits, three walks and two hit batsmen while striking out four to complete the three-game sweep and win for the seventh time in his past eight starts.

Daniel Bard got four outs and Jonathan Papelbon pitched the ninth for his 16th save and Boston's sixth shutout. The Red Sox earned their season-high sixth straight victory to improve to 8-1 on the inter-league homestand and remain just one game behind the New York Yankees in the AL East.

Dustin Pedroia had three hits, including an eighth-inning triple. He also stole second twice, and took third on one of them after seeing that the Dodgers, playing an infield shift with David Ortiz at-bat, had no one covering the bag.

Hiroki Kuroda (6-5) gave up two runs and six hits, a walk and two wild pitches. Kuroda, who had not allowed an earned run in his two previous starts, struck out nine.

There were more cheers — and more boos — for Ramirez, who was playing in Boston for the first time since leaving the city he helped win two World Series titles.

CFL EXHIBITION

Eskimos 36 Lions 32

Given his chance Jason Maas wanted to make things right.

The veteran backup quarterback threw a 29-yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Skyler Green with the final seconds ticking off the clock as the Edmonton Eskimos defeated the B.C. Lions 36-32 in both team's CFL exhibition finale Sunday afternoon.

A crowd of 24,763 saw an exciting end to the first game played at Empire Field, the outdoor, temporary venue the Lions will play in this season.

Maas wanted to make amends after a fumble he coughed up while being sacked resulted in the Lions jumping into a 32-29 lead with 2:27 left.

"You never want to turn the ball over and have it lead to points," said Maas. "It was nice resilience on our offence to take the ball down there and score the touchdown."

The Eskimos actually tied the game on a 35-yard

Derek Schiavone field goal but there was a penalty on the play. The Lions were called for offside, giving the Eskimos a third-and-short.

The Eskimos took the points off the board and managed to get the first down.

On the winning touchdown Green found himself wide open behind B.C. rookie Hamid Mahmoudi. "I think they messed coverage up," said Maas, who completed six of 11 passes for 101 yards in the fourth quarter. "It was nice to see him behind everybody."

Miyazato earns No. 1 ranking

LPGA Once Ai Miyazato of Japan stopped worrying about becoming the No. 1 player in women's golf, getting there was easy.

Dominating the LPGA Tour in a way akin to Annika Sorenstam and Lorena Ochoa, Miyazato cruised to her fourth win of the year and took over the top spot in women's golf with an impressive two-shot victory over M.J. Hur of South Korea in the reborn $1.5 million US ShopRite LPGA Classic yesterday.

The Rolex rankings won't be announced until today, but the LPGA said Miyazato will be No. 1.

"When I started playing in the States, that's when I really started thinking about being No. 1," Miyazato said.

Graeme McDowell of Northern Ireland reacts at the trophy ceremony after winning the U.S. Open golf tournament yesterday.

McDowell steadies as stars fade away

First European to win U.S. Open in 40 years

In a U.S. Open with golf's biggest stars on the leaderboard, it was Graeme McDowell who played like one.

McDowell seized control after a shocking collapse by Dustin Johnson, then failed to get flustered with Tiger Woods, Phil Mickelson and Ernie Els lined up behind him. The 30-year-old from Northern Ireland wasn't perfect, but he was good enough.

He closed with a 3-over 74 to become the first European in 40 years to capture the U.S. Open, getting an embrace on the 18th green from his father.

"You're something, kid," Kenny McDowell said, speaking for thousands who watched this unlikely Open unfold along the Pacific coastline.

It was a final round no one expected.

Johnson took a triple bogey on the second hole to lose all of his three-shot lead, and a double bogey on the next hole ended his hopes. Three of the biggest stars of this generation were right there, ready to continue the lineage of great champions at Pebble Beach, only to play far below their expectations.

McDowell made only one birdie — an eight-foot putt on the fifth hole — and his final round was the highest score by a U.S. Open champion since Andy North in 1985.

No matter. It added up to a one-shot victory over another surprise contender, Gregory Havret of France, who shot 72.

"I can't believe I'm standing with this right now," McDowell said, posing with silver trophy. "It's a dream come true. I've been dreaming it all my life. Two putts to win the U.S. Open. Can't believe it happened."

Woods couldn't believe it, either.

Poised to end six months of bad publicity over a shattered personal life, he bogeyed five of his first 10 holes and took himself out of contention with a 75.

Els and Mickelson hung around a little longer, and both had opportunities, but neither could capitalize.

Mike Weir of Bright's Grove, Ont., finished tied for 80th. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

FC Edmonton puts up good fight

SOCCER FRIENDLY

Colo-Colo 4 FC 3

Cristian Bogado scored three goals as Chilean club team Colo-Colo salvaged a 4-3 victory over FC Edmonton in an international friendly yesterday at Commonwealth Stadium.

However, it wasn't so much about winning for the fledgling Edmonton soccer club as it was about being competitive.

And they were certainly that.

FC Edmonton, which is set to join the North American Soccer League next year, continued its year-ahead preparation with an exhibition against the Chilean club, one of seven matches slated for the new team this summer.

Edmonton came off a 3-0 victory over what amounted to the practice squad of the NASL's Montreal Impact earlier in the week, but they looked like they would be tested by Colo-Colo, which was obligated to dress its starters for at least the first half.

However, it was Edmonton that started the scoring in the 12th minute, much to the surprise of the largely pro-Chilean crowd of 5,573. Defender Paul Hamilton moved up for a free kick by Paul Mattheijs from 35 yards out and headed the ball just inside the post past Colo-Colo keeper Nery Veloso.

"It was all about getting through those first 15 minutes," FC Edmonton head coach Dwight Lodeweges said. "If you don't, and they have so many skills, that if they put two goals in there, we're dead. Then it could run to 8-0 or 9-0."

"But we scored the first one. It was brilliant."

Colo-Colo is considered one of the world's top 30 club teams.

In a moment of drama, France team director Jean-Louis Valentin stormed off, shouting that he was "ashamed" of the players for not training. Caught up to by reporters, Valentin announced his resignation from the French Football Federation on the spot. Anelka was kicked off the team the previous evening after his profanity-laced tirade against Domenech.

Tiny New Zealand stuns Italy by forcing tie

GROUP F RESULT

New Zealand 1 Italy 1

Defending champion Italy was held to another 1-1 draw yesterday, this time by New Zealand, in the latest World Cup surprise.

The 78th-ranked All Whites took the lead in the seventh minute when the ball glanced off 36-year-old Italy captain Fabio Cannavaro, gifting a goal to Shane Smeltz. A long free kick from Simon Elliott sailed deep into Italy's area, deflected off Cannavaro's hip and went directly toward the waiting Smeltz for the tap in.

Riccardo Montolivo hit the post for Italy in the 27th, and Vincenzo Iaquinta equalized two minutes later with a penalty after Tommy Smith was shown a yellow card for tugging down Daniele De Rossi inside the area.

"We're just sorry we didn't win a match we could have," Italy coach Marcello Lippi said. "If we didn't win against New Zealand it's our fault."

At the final whistle the celebration was located in one corner of the Mbombela Stadium, where a small section of New Zealand fans marked their country's historic result by taking their shirts off and waving them around deliriously.

"I think that stopped the nation," New Zealand coach Ricki Herbert said. "As a football coach, it's way above anything we've achieved in the history of the game." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

2010, the year of the odd resumé

Even as the job market improves, with unemployment still up there, job seekers have turned to unconventional methods to stand out from the competition.

According to a new survey from CareerBuilder, nearly one-quarter of hiring managers (22 per cent) reported that they are seeing more job seekers try unusual tactics to capture their attention in 2010 compared to last year. This is up from 18 per cent of hiring managers who said the same in 2009 and 12 per cent in 2008.

"While we are seeing positive signs in the job market as employers gradually add headcount, competition is still high for open positions," said Jason Ferrara, senior career adviser at CareerBuilder. "As a result, more candidates are turning to unconventional tactics to attract the attention of hiring managers."

Some interesting applications include:

- Candidate brought in a DVD of his former boss giving him a recommendation.

- Candidate applying for a casino table game position came into my office and started dealing on my desk while pretending to talk to players, which showed me her guest service skills.

- Candidate sent in a letter that explained how to solve an issue our company was having with a certain type of technology.

- Candidate who was a prospective teacher brought in a box of props to demonstrate her teaching style.

- Candidate came prepared with unique business cards featuring our logo and a self-introduction brochure.

- Candidate wrote a full business plan for one of our products with his resumé submission.

- Candidate created a full graphics portfolio on our brand.

This survey was conducted online by Harris Interactive on behalf of CareerBuilder.com among 2,778 hiring managers and human resource professionals.

Blacksmiths still forging steel in the 21st century

OddJobs

Diane Peters

Metronews.ca/oddjobs

Robb Thak loved art and reading history and fantasy books growing up. "As soon as I realized blacksmiths made all the armour, I knew that's what I wanted to do."

As a teen, he discovered that one of the top blacksmiths in southern Ontario lived down the road, and he offered classes: Thak took one and built himself a forge at home to practise.

Thak, who's now 41, kept asking if he could work in the shop. He asked about four times before the blacksmith caved in and let him start sweeping floors for $5 an hour.

Over the next four years, Thak got his basic training as a blacksmith. He married young and had kids, and those were "lean years," he recalls. So he quit to sell insurance.

That did not work out. After a year, he got a night job at a factory and did blacksmith work by day at the shop he'd set up on his parents' farm.

For six years, he honed his craft and built up a reputation. "These are not skills you learn over six months. It takes several years to get the hand-eye coordination and the large-er design and proportions right."

Blacksmith Robb Thak, 41, from Thak Ironworks hammers away at his forge.

Finally, he was able to quit and rent his own shop. A few years later, he began sharing space with his father-in-law, who ran an auto repair shop in Florida, a tiny village near Thak's home in Elmira. Eventually, his father-in-law moved to another location and Thak bought the building.

Now, Thak works from 6 a.m. until 5 p.m. six days a week. He takes Sunday off to be with his family (who also often help out in the shop).

Thak makes metal creations — mostly using steel, but sometimes copper and brass — ranging from small doorknockers to large, elaborate railings that sell for around $30,000.

His tools include a forge, which is a small and very hot furnace, a hammer and an anvil (yup, the thing Wile E. Coyote used on the Road Runner).

He heats up a piece of steel to around 2,000 F, which makes it as malleable as clay. He has about a minute to use his hammer to shape it. Then it's back into the forge, and more hammering. The shape of the anvil is helpful as a tool to bend the steel in various ways.

Thak and his on-staff blacksmith work at the forge for about three hours a day: It's hot, exhausting work. For every two hours at the forge, a piece needs about three hours of addition work, including sanding, soldering and painting.

Diane Peters once hawked magic pens at the Canadian National Exhibition. She's now a writer and part-time journalism instructor.

Hedley, Bieber win big at MMVAs

B.C. pop-punk band, Ontario teen dream each take home three awards

Justin Bieber had quite an introduction to the Much Music Video Awards last night, winning three trophies in front of a mass of screaming fans who camped out for days to see him.

Bieber won the viewer choice awards for best video and new artist as well as the prize for international video by a Canadian for his smash hit Baby.

The 16-year-old seemed genuinely surprised as he mounted the stage.

"Coming from a small town in Canada — repping Stratford, Ont. — I just wanna say, this means the world to me," said a grinning Bieber.

"It's my first award, and to have it in Canada is just amazing."

Pop-punkers Hedley tied Bieber with three trophies at the outdoor bash, winning video of the year and post-production of the year for Perfect and pop video of the year for Chasing.

"Thank you guys so much," said lead singer Jacob Hoggard before turning his attention to shirtless Jersey Shore star Pauly D, who presented the award. "I'd like to thank

Hard-rockers Billy Talent also took a pair of trophies, including rock video of the year, while Toronto rap star Drake and collaborator Trey Songz won two trophies for their song Successful (cinematography of the year and hip-hop video of the year).

Last year's hosts, the Jonas Brothers, were also awarded with some hardware: international video of the year by a group for Paranoid, while Ottawa rapper Belly nabbed the MuchFACT indie video of the year trophy.

Of course, each year's instalment of the MMVAs is remembered as much for the impromptu watercooler moments as the actual awards.

Last year, Lady Gaga authored the show's most memorable moment when she closed a visually ambitious performance by posing with a flaming bustier.

One of the evening's unexpected moments actually came in the form of a glaring error. The first time co-host Miley Cyrus threw to Drake's performance, something was lost in translation, and the 23-year-old Drake stood confused onstage until producers cut to commercial.

Michael Jackson, What Happened Next

After Michael Jackson was acquitted of child molestation charges in 2006 and went into a self-imposed exile, writer and fan Jacques Peretti went in search of answers about the King of Pop, his life and what led him down his self-destructive path. The result is this 2008 documentary, which features startling revelations from Jackson's manager and the journalists who broke the story about the child abuse allegations. 8 PM on CBCN

Cyndi Lauper sings the blues

LENNY STOUTE
for Metro Canada

New wave diva, wrestling maven, Celebrity Apprentice, Gay Pride Grand Marshall, anti-discrimination activist,

Time after time, Cyndi Lauper finds a way to stay in the public eye. Mostly through a series of re-inventions, and for her latest, the lady sings the blues.

On the line from New York, Lauper is bubbly and focused on Memphis Blues, a collection of classic Stax-era tunes given the Lauper treatment. Lest you think this is a serious changeup for the lady, she says it ain't so.

"My interest in the blues goes back to a kid in her bedroom singing the songs of ('50s R&B shouter) Big Mabel, who's had a place in my music ever since. In the Nineties I was mixing pop with hip hop, which put me in a place close to where I could think of this album again."

The genesis of this long-coming album is a 1987 dream starring pianist Oscar Peterson.

"For the last 10 years it's been more or less 'Best Of' albums. I wanted to put out something and it seemed like good time to get that blues album I had in me out there."

The timing involved here is both topical and canny. Dropping a blues album gives Lauper access to a whole new audience and the soulful cachet to get on to rootsy events like the Montreal Jazzfest (July 4). It also keeps her social-consciously relevant.

Cyndi Lauper's Memphis Blues is available tomorrow.

"This is the time for a lot of blues in America. My people are struggling; my

Seven Fun Facts about Cyndi Lauper

- Won an Emmy as outstanding guest actress for a continuing role on Mad About You.
- Handpicked by Cher as the opening act for her 1999 Believe tour.
- Her million-selling debut album, She's So Unusual, was almost titled She's So Wonderful.
- Made her first appearance on a TV series in 1989 on The Super Mario Bros. Super Show.
- Was the first female singer to have four top-five singles released from one album.
- Very first album Blue Angel, was recorded as a member of a band of the same name. According to Lauper, it went lead.
- Girls Just Want to Have Fun was originally written by Robert Hazard for a man to perform.

people are suffering, losing their homes. People are singing the blues all over the place. I wanted something I could sing to my people and the blues is the best thing, because at heart it's uplifting."

"Uplifting" would be a good way to describe the dream in which Peterson appeared and suggested Cyndi should be redoing old blues tunes, just like Janis Joplin did, to bring them to a new audience.

"In the dream I was an a--hole, giving Oscar lip when I should have been singing with the guy. But it stuck, and that's basically the motivation behind the album, to justify Oscar's faith in me. From that I also learnt to listen. When dreams speak to us we should all listen more."

The result is Memphis Blues, which is set to drop on Lauper's birthday tomorrow, 12 Stax-style electric blues excursions covering genre cult fave songwriters including Charlie Spand, Tracey Nelson and Memphis Slim. Cooking in the kitchen with Cyndi, a stellar crew of players including Charlie Musselwhite, Johnny Lang, Allen Toussaint, BB King and Ann Peebles.

Intimidating? Hell yeah! Says Cyndi: "Among the many blessings I had from making the album were the amazing people I got to work with. At times I could hear this voice in my head

"I see my influence everywhere; I also see the influence of Madonna and Cher. Everybody influences everybody. It's ok for Lady Gaga to grab whatever influences because she's a performance artist."

Cyndi Lauper

whispering, You know everybody else will be more than good, maybe I might not be good enough."

No worries; she's fierce enough on Shattered Dreams and Mother Earth, cooks enough raunch on Rollin' and Tumblin' and rubs up well against BB King on Early In The Morning. Understandably Lauper claims she's burning to get out there and take her tunes from this most important album to the people. The music's so important she's laid aside the usual topical themes to focus on the universal one of love and its aftermaths. So when she plays the Pride show July 3 at Queen's Park, the meat of the set will be Cyndi sings the blues. But in an uplifting way.

Shia woos Carey's folks

LET'S HOPE HER PARENTS DON'T READ THE TABLOID STORIES OF HIS PAST ARRESTS Shia LaBeouf has already won Carey Mulligan's heart, but he apparently also wanted to make sure her parents love him, too. On a recent trip to London, the Transformers star did his best to woo his British girlfriend's mom and dad, according to the National Enquirer.

"Her parents were worried that Shia was just another Hollywood player who would hurt

Carey," a source says.

"Shia did his best to prove he's the real deal." His best reportedly included bringing a Hermes scarf for Mulligan's mother and an iPad for her father. "They thought it was sweet, and he enjoyed spoiling them a bit," the source says.

Dutch officials ban Snoop from festival

IF THERE WAS ONE COUNTRY THAT SHOULD LOVE FAMOUS POT-HEADS YOU WOULD THINK IT WOULD BE THEM Snoop Dogg was "astonished" to find himself banned from a music festival in the Netherlands. The rapper was bumped from the June 27 Parkpop festival in the Hague at the request of the mayor and local law enforcement, according to the BBC.

"There's been much speculation that, given the enormous response by Snoop's fans to the free festival, the local authorities would not be able to provide sufficient security," The rapper's manager says in a statement. "Snoop is a mainstay at music festivals all over the world and has performed at all of these without incident."

Downey a Renaissance man

HIS CAREER HAS DEFINITELY HAD A REBIRTH The Gene Siskel Film Center in Chicago has honoured actor Robert Downey Jr. with its Renaissance Award.

The Academy Award-nominated actor was in Chicago on Saturday to accept the award. The centre says it chose to honour the 45-year-old Downey because he is "one of the most respected and versatile actors of his generation."

Downey gave an interview to director Todd Phillips, saying three of his movies are the "most representative" of his work, Tropic Thunder, Sherlock Holmes and Iron Man. He won a Golden Globe for Sherlock Holmes. The actor also says he's moved on from drug and alcohol abuse.

Sudoku

For more/less challenging Sudoku puzzles, visit metronews.ca

HOW TO PLAY: Digits 1 through 9 will appear once in each zone – one zone is an outlined 3x3 grid within the larger puzzle grid. There are nine zones in the puzzle. Do not enter a digit into a box if it already appears elsewhere in the same zone, row across or column down the entire puzzle.

Metro Recipe of the Day

Stir-fried Chicken and Avocado Salad with Hot Balsamic Dressing

INGREDIENTS:

Chicken
500 g boneless, skinless chicken breasts
2 tsp olive oil
2 large garlic cloves, sliced
2 tbsp honey
1 tbsp grainy mustard
1 tsp balsamic vinegar
6 strips turkey bacon, diced

Salad

2 heads Boston lettuce, leaves
1 bunch watercress
2 avocados
3 tbsp lemon juice
2 cups cherry tomatoes
1 small red onion

METHOD:

1. For salad, place lettuce leaves in large salad bowl. Trim tips of watercress and toss with lettuce. Peel and halve avocados; discard pits. Slice avocados lengthwise, 1 cm thick, and toss with lemon juice. Halve tomatoes and slice onion into thin slivers. Scatter avocados, tomatoes and red onion on top of salad and refrigerate.

2. Cut chicken lengthwise into 2.5 cm wide strips. In large skillet, heat oil over medium-high heat. Add chicken and garlic; stir-fry until chicken turns opaque, 3 minutes.

3. Add honey, mustard and vinegar; mix well. Add turkey bacon and stir-fry until bacon is cooked and chicken is tender and moist, 3 minutes.

4. Spoon chicken strips, bacon and any remaining liquid on top of salad. Serve with wedges of warm, crusty bread.

ARIES

MARCH 21-APRIL 20
After several weeks in which you have been free to come and go as you please you now have to stay in one place for a while.

TAURUS

APRIL 21-MAY 21
You may not completely understand the changes now taking place but if you go with the flow you may find you quite like them.

GEMINI

MAY 22-JUNE 21
If you work hard and aim high it's more than possible that you will come into money in the near future.

CANCER

JUNE 22-JULY 22
A new solar year begins today but you don't have to rush here, there and everywhere — at least not yet. Keep your options open.

LEO

JULY 23-AUG 23
Like it or not you will have to let go of something you would rather keep hold of. You know it is limiting your options.

VIRGO

AUG 24-SEPT 22
If you want others to trust you more you are going to have to earn it. Your task for today is to show you are serious about joint projects.

LIBRA

SEPT 23-OCT 23
Act as if the eyes of the world are upon you. Most likely they are. There is no better time to make a good impression on people in positions of power.

SCORPIO

OCT 24-NOV 22
No matter how much certain things may annoy you, either at home or at work, you must keep your thoughts to yourself for the time being.

SAGITTARIUS

NOV 23-DEC 21
The right time to deal with an important business or money matter is now. Investments and property issues are under especially good stars at the moment.

CAPRICORN

DEC 22-JAN 20
Partnership issues will come to the fore, but that's nothing to be worried about. Be honest about what you expect from a relationship and it'll work out.

AQUARIUS

JAN 21-FEB 18
You have been wasting too much time and too much energy on things of no importance. Find ways to streamline your chores.

PISCES

FEB 19-MARCH 20
Start doing what you want to do and do less of what other people want you to do. What you want most, of course, is more excitement in your life.
